

WINE LIST

Let yourself be taken on a journey of fine wine and Champagne at Corinthia Hotel London

Our experienced team of Sommeliers and Wine Consultants pride themselves on presenting an extensive range of some of the finest labels from across the globe.

Our wine list is made up of more than 200 wines and Champagnes carefully hand-picked to provide an exceptional choice to our guests.

It begins with our team continuously developing their knowledge and sourcing wine estates that use artisan wine production methods to reflect the regional grape varieties and their unique properties.

We select only the most passionate of wine makers as the production of these wines demands the highest levels of attention and expertise. We are proud to be able to share these outstanding wines with you and love to have the opportunity to introduce our guests to something new. Our wines are stored in temperature-controlled fridges to enable us to serve them in the perfect condition and at the ideal temperature.

Our wide selection of wines-by-the-glass is changed quarterly so that we can provide an interesting range of wines for all of our guests to enjoy. We aim to give everyone the chance to try premium wines by the glass.

Throughout the year, our wine program will offer a series of tastings hosted by the wine producers themselves and guided dinners providing delicious fare and education to our guests. These events are a unique opportunity to taste some highly acclaimed and rare wines.

BURGUNDY

The Bourgogne region has perfect weather for growing ripe, flavourful grapes with rich soils that combine to become over 100 appellations that are recognised around the world. Located in the east-central part of France, Burgundy has 5 wine growing areas: Chablis, Côte de Nuits, Côte de Beaune, Côte Chalonnaise, Mâconnais. These top regions produce very complex Burgundies which are aged in small oak barrels, creating full bodied, creamy and complex wines.

SAINT-ÉMILION

Saint-Émilion is a key wine town in Bordeaux, important in terms of both quality and quantity. It is also responsible for some of the most prestigious, long-lived wines in the world including Châteaux Cheval Blanc, Ausone, Angelus, Figeac and Pavie. Saint-Émilion wines are predominantly made from Merlot and Cabernet Franc.

Château Fleur de Lisse, 2012	£59
Château Boutisse Grand Cru, 2014	£86
Château Cheval Blanc Grand Cru, 2011	£1250

POMEROL

Pomerol is located in the east of the Bordeaux region. The wines of Pomerol have a high composition of Merlot in their blends and are considered the gentlest and least tannic and acidic of Bordeaux wines. Merlot is the dominant grape in Pomerol and plays a large part in making the wines rich, smooth and approachable at an early age.

Château Beausejour de Bonaleu, 2011	£112
Château Petrus Grand Vin, 1992	£4195

MÉDOC AND HAUT-MÉDOC

The Médoc is the largest wine producing area in Bordeaux, wines here are made in a variety of styles and often they differ from north to south. Although the region does not have any classified growths, there are a number of Crus Bourgeois located in the soft clay soil of the Médoc.

Château Cantemerle, 'Les Allées de Cantemerle', Haut-Médoc, 2009	£84

FRANCE

GRAVES AND PESSAC-LÉOGNAN

This area of the Graves is located just south of the city of Bordeaux. Red wines from Pessac-Léognan have a powerful bouquet. The soil of Pessac-Léognan is composed of gravel terraces with sediments from different geological eras and the red wines have a powerful bouquet. Cabernet Sauvignon is the dominant grape variety, followed by Merlot.

Château La Mission de Haut Brion Cru Classe, Pessac Leognan, 2005 £1950

SAINT-ESTÈPHE

Saint-Estèphe is the northernmost region. The soil of St-Estèphe is a heavy composite of clay washed from the Gironde. This soil type drains slowly and gives Saint-Estèphe estates an advantage during dry summers. The wines produced here tend to have more acidity than other red Bordeaux, they are richly coloured, deeply flavoured, and are known for their longevity.

Chateau Beau-Site, Cru Bourgeois, 2013 £102

SAINT JULIEN

Saint-Julien is a small but important appellation of Bordeaux situated between Pauillac and Margaux. Its reputation is based on its status as a reliable source of consistently elegant, age-worthy wines. The grapes permitted for use here are Cabernet-Sauvignon, Cabernet Franc, Merlot, Carmener, Petit Verdot and Malbec.

La Reserve de Leoville, Barton, 2013 £184

PAUILLAC

Pauillac is a village located between Saint-Estèphe and Saint-Julien and is home to 3 of the top five Châteaux in the 1855 Médoc Classification. There is still an identifiable Pauillac wine style: full, rich and characterised by the classic cassis and cedarwood aromas of oak-aged Cabernet Sauvignon.

Château Haut-Bages Monpelou Cru Bourgeois, 2011 £118

Château Tour Pibran, 2011 £135

Château Batailley Grand Cru Classe', 2011 £195

MARGAUX

Margaux is the most southern of Médoc's regions and is famous for producing well-rounded, gently perfumed wines, predominantly from Cabernet-Sauvignon. Their distinctive flavours and profile are often attributed to the local soils. In Margaux, the soils have a high gravel content, which leads to excellent drainage and a low level of nutrients.

Château Margaux Premier Grand Cru Classé, 1988	£1225
Château Margaux Premier Grand Cru Classé, 1994	£1195

ITALY

Italy is home to some of the oldest wine-producing regions in the world with a wide selection of styles that differ from north to south. The DOCG wines are located in 15 different regions but most of them are concentrated in Piedmont, Veneto and Tuscany. Among these are appellations appreciated and sought after by wine lovers around the world: Barolo, Barbaresco, and Brunello di Montalcino, Amarone della Valpolicella, Taurasi, Chianti and many more.

AROUND THE WORLD

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

American wine has been produced for over 300 years. Today California is producing 89 percent of all US wine followed by New York, Washington and Oregon. The United States is the sixth-most planted country in the world. Chardonnay is one of the leading grape variety for the production of high end wines, and they tend to be quite similar to the Burgundies with most often a longer barrel ageing, giving very complex and fine wines.

SOUTH AFRICA

South African wine has a history dating back to 1659 with Constantia, a vineyard near Cape Town, being considered one of the greatest wines in the world. Traditionally South African red wines had a reputation for being coarse in texture with rustic flavours. Today Cabernet Sauvignon, Shiraz and Pinotage have risen to prominence with Cabernet Sauvignon being the most widely grown red grape variety.
